It is intended to make the SHELBY SENTINEL a first-class Family Newspaper, independent of sect of party, devoted to General News, Literature, and Morparty, devoted to General News, Interactic, and Morality. Appreciating the necessity for a Superior Newspaper in this part of Kentucky, we will bend every energy to make the Sentinel acceptable to all classes. To those who have a distaste for partisan strife, our paper will be a welcome guest. In it the angry mutterings of discord will be hushed in the endeavor to heal the frightful wounds, which years of angry mutterings of discord will be hushed in the en-deavor to heal the frightful wounds, which years of war have caused. To sustain our paper, we naturally expect the assistance and co-operation of the people of Shelby. While the local interests of this section will not be neglected, we will aim to advance the general prosperity of the State.

The general interests and welfare of the county can in no better way be advanced than through the medium

Devoting our attention to all topics of the day, we Devoting our attention to all topics of the day, we will treely and independently discuss them, To prevent any misapprehension as to the position which the Sentinel will occupy, we will state that our approval and support will be given to a mild and conciliatory policy, condemning all radical, revolutionary or unjust measures. Believing that this is the only course which will result in permanent prosperity to the country and that these views are such as the people of Kentucky naturally and heartily endorse, we shall uphold and defend them at all times. Firm in the opinion that we can make our paper acceptable, we ask a on that we can make our paper acceptable, we ask a liberal patronage.

[For the Shelby Sentinel.] A TRIBUTE TO MRS. L. H. SIGOURNEY.

As one by one. the shining stars Of night fade into day, So one by one the brilliant gems Of genius pass away.

Long did the light of thy pure mind O'er earth a radiance shed, And 'mid its darkness still,-Thy hand alone is dead.

Thou hast but passed from this, into A higher sphere of thought-O that some spirit had been near, Thy "mantle" to have caught. And stayed on earth thy song so sweet,

So full of faith and love;

To sweeter strains above. But still earth hath not lost thee, Nor can it ever lose, While round our hearts, like silvery streams,

While thine own hand, now tunes thy harp

Thy holy music flows. There never yet has perished here, A spirit like to thine; But-passed into eternity-

'Tis shining still on Time.

While some leave but the casket here, Much of thy soul we find, Amid the gems, so generous dropped, From out thy gifted mind.

For three score years, its impress fair Was traced in burning lines; And still, from out Heaven's burning sphere, Its bright reflection shines.

Gilding a tomb where earth's proud ones, Can never hope to rest; For warmly shrined thy name must be In every pious breast.

And, in that blessed realm, methinks The angels waited long, To see thy trembling footsteps turn Toward their own blissful throng.

With rapturous voices hailed thee there, And, in thy ransomed hand, A harp of heavenly tuning placed;

And, joyous, bade thee stand. With happy, kindred spirits, near Te God's eternal throne, And in a voice divine, renew

Thy pure, seraphic song. MIMOSA. BEECHLAND, Ky., Sept. 23, 1866.

For the Shelby Sentinel. A Walk in the Country.

Mr. Editor :- I know of nothing so delightful and health-giving as a walk to the country, on some pleasant autumn morning-not a direct, hurried, business-like walk-but a slow, leisurely saunter, thro' field and forest, with an occasional rest on some rude seat, constructed by the hand of nature for your especial benefit, or to lounge on the soft, sweet, green lap of mother earth. Then to arise, wind your way slowly up some gradual swelling mound. When on the summit, the prospeet will amply repay the toil of the ascent. Probably from this spot a most delightful and comprehensive view of Shelbyville and its surroundings may be obtained, and the gently winding and wooded banks of the lovely stream that encircle it may be seen for miles, and from this point may be seen many homes of our citizens, and the sweet spots selected and the elegant buildings erected thereon speaks not a little of the taste and liberality of the owners. Turn your eye gently to the right, and you perceive that delightful place, to the vision, "Grove Hill Cemesince to give your readers a description. The writer hereof begs leave to say to all such, that Shelbyville and vicinity offers the most advantageous location in Kentucky. The country in and around Shelbyville is very beautiful, and extremely fertile, and affords some very fine scenery, the effect of which is enhanced by the highly cultivated fields, gardens and orchards which abound everywhere around. IRRITABILITY OF ILLNESS .- Those who are blessed with health can never know. till they are in their turn called upon to suffer, what heroic strength of spirit lies hidden under the mask of silent uncomplaining suffering, how strong the temtations are to be unreasonable, pettish, or repining; how difficult it is to be grateful, and still more to be amiable, when the irritation of every nerve renders the most skillful attendance irksome, and the dearest presence a burden; when the irritated frame loathes the sunshine of a smile, and dreads the tear and the cloud, where all is pain and weariness and bitterness! Let the healthy lay these things ever to heart and while they scrupulously perform their duty-while they reverence the fortitude and patience of the gentle and resigned let them have pity upon many a poor and querulour sufferer; upon their side let the sick not forget that the reverence and love their often-wearied and over taxed attendants, quickening them to exertion by the sweetest influences, instead of exhausting them with the struggle to perform an un

- A Proclamation.

Almighty God, our heavenly Father, has been pleased to vouchsafe to us as a peo ple another year of that national life which is an indispensable condition of peace, security and progress. That year morever. has been crowned with many peculia blessings. The civil war that has been so recently among us has not anywhere been reopened. Foreign intervention has ceased to excite alarm or apprehension. Intrusive pestilence has been benignly mitigated; domestic tranquility has improved; the sentiments of conciliation have large-ly prevailed, and the effection of loyalty and patriotism have been widely renewed. tend our railroad system far into the interior recesses of he country, while our commerce has resumed its customary ac-A gang of counterfeiters are plying their tivity in foreign seas. These national blessings demand a national acknowledgment. Now, therefore, I, Andrew Johnson, President of the United States, do States and Territories of the United States by the people thereof, as a day of thanksthe ways of all good offerings. In these national thanksgivings, praises and supplications, we have the divine assurance that the Lord remaineth a king forever; they that are weak shall be guided in judgment, and such as are gentle shall He learn His people, and the Lord shall give to His people the blessings of peace.

In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the -) seal of the United States to be affixed. The fifteen slugs with which I had loaded the musket, had done their work well, five of the six Indians lay dead upon the ground, and the sixth had disappeared.

Although no enemies were now in sight I did not venture forth until morning .-There lay the bodies of the five Indians undisturbed, together with the rifle of the ated and returned; let her opinion be askother. Securing the arms and amunition of the fallen Indians I followed up the trail of the missing one until I reached the river, beyond which point I could discover nothing. From the amount of blood which marked his trail, together with unmistakable evidence that he had picked his way with difficulty, I was led to believe that he was mortally wounded, and in or-der to prevent his body from falling into the hands of the white foe, he had groped his way to the river, and thrown himself in the current which had borne it away.

The Indians had killed my cow, and that you may be assured, was no trifling loss, yet in my gratitude for my escape from the merciless savages, I would have made greater sacrifices. I was well provided by means of arms and ammunition taken from the six Indians, in case of a second attack, but this, fortunately, proved to be my last adventure with the savages. Not one of the band had escaped to tell the tale, and incite his brethren to revenge the death of his comrades. "Ah!" exclaimed the old man, while the tears gushed from his eyes, at the memory of that eventful night, "that was a glorious shot—the best I ever made!"
